

The Sunbeam

Vice President's Column

Mark Taylor

I was hoping to give you a larger progress report on my "free" Kougat, not sure where the time went this month, but wasn't able to work on it as I wished. The toughest part was matching the red turtle deck, and canopy with the red covering. Found Rustoleum cherry red paint is a pretty close match with Sig's Waco red film covering. Next hardest matching the cowl with Monokote Cub Yellow. Got lucky with the paint for the cowl, as I think I got the last two cans in existence from Tower Hobbies. After four layers of paint, turned out pretty close. Here is how the painting turned out.

June 17 Control Line Fun Fly Montezuma, Iowa

Let's get together and have a fun fly and picnic at Hazel Sig's airport just south of Montezuma. Run what you bring, show us what you got, and amaze the crowd. No

Official events planned but if enough old time combat models show up we could play.

Three mown grass circles, space for a couple more circles for hand launched models.

Fly until you drop then cook up some lunch and fly some more. We will have grills available and any side dishes you can bring to share would be great. AMA required to fly.

If you want to save on shipping costs on Sig products, send or call in your order before June 15, and we will have it delivered at the field. For more information contact bobnelson@sigmfg.com or call 641-623-5154 and ask for Bob.

Got my Father's Day gift for flying. The back has a pouch for "stuff", and a small cooler pouch. I'm sure it will be handy. Wayne Hauber-notice what it says on the chair!

I saw on the internet a picture of a man standing on the roof of his apartment building, located in the landing approach path for commercial airliners. He had painted the roof black, with large white letters, "Welcome to Cleveland". Nice gesture. Only problem was, he lives in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

See you at the field,

Craig
